Subject: Renewal Proposal for ClinicalKey 2024-25.

Respected Patron,

We thank you for continuing to be patrons to our product ClinicalKey and I am happy to share the usage is continuously increasing with these products now widely accepted across your esteemed institution. With the advent of the pandemic this year, online clinical and education solutions available remotely to researchers, students and faculty have proven that treatment continues, research continues, education continues. Elsevier is proud to play a key role in enabling this for your esteemed institution.

We request your consideration towards renewal of this evidence based updated tool empowering your students, faculty and research teams.

CLINICALKEY

When you continue using ClinicalKey, your students and faculty can:

- Work from a single source of evidence-based information: With ClinicalKey, your students will continue drawing from the same foundational, evidence-based content across specialties and formats—including reference books, journals, drug information, practice guidelines, patient education handouts, and more—eliminating inconsistencies while empowering them to learn how to deliver the most appropriate care for every patient.
- Maximize the effectiveness of every lesson: With ClinicalKey, your faculty will have instant access to trusted, authoritative information that helps them create syllabi, build lectures, and effectively answer students' complicated medical questions.
- Promote a culture of consistent learning across your institution: With ClinicalKey, you'll offer the same set of consistent, current, clinically valid data and guidance to all students, promoting a unified standard of learning across the institution.

Complete, Trusted Content

Continuing to use ClinicalKey means you'll maintain your institution's access to an unparalleled collection of concise, trusted answers and rich, evidence-based clinical content.
